SENIOR'S DAUGHTER IS ATTACKED ON WAY HOME WITH ESCORT

Assailants. Captured by Father and Fiance of Girl Aided by Mob Which Sought to Lynch Miscreants—New York Reign of Terror Unabated.

BY BOSTON AMERICAN LEASED WIRE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Miss Sadie Hazenflug, daughter of State Senator Conrad Hazenflug, was attacked by two men near her home, at No. 33 Bogart street, Williamsburg, and was saved by her father and her fiance and a mob which tried to lynch the assailants.

In their attempt to drag her into a dark hallway, Miss Hazenflug fought desperately, freed herself, and ran to her home, where her father was on the front door step.

With a revolver he captured one of the men and then assisted Michael Cann, his daughter's fiance, in capturing the other fellow. The young couple were on their way home at an early hour today when the two men jumped out at them from a wagon at White and Varot streets. While one of the assailants held Cann, the other dragged the screaming young woman to a doorway. She broke away from him, leaving part of her dress in his clutches.

As he cried "LYNCH HIM," the father unexpectedly attacked him. A crowd gathered immediately and started the chase for the man's companion, who had been struggling with Cann. When both were caught there was a cry for a rope with which to lynch them and the police, who had been called, had to protect their prisoners with drawn revolvers.

The men described themselves as Peter Canabst, No. 141 No. 101 street, and John Houshale, No. 22 Morgan avenue. A doctor was reported to be in a serious condition.

Helpless as far as police protection is concerned, and terror swept from the Bronx to the outskirts of Brooklyn, the metropolis today from another week of the mad crime wave. Within forty-eight hours the "strangler" has attacked two women and left them semi-conscious.

The result of such cases within the past few weeks has been the closing of the city, especially on the lower East side and in many outskirts. It is the opinion of the police that the "strangler" is a woman, and that she is a very clever and violent woman. She appears to be at hand.

Another Murderous Attack. Had a short time been reported within twenty-four hours. No attack the guilty had the innocent are in peril.

Another murderous attack has been added to the police record of recent crimes against defenseless women and girls. The latest victim was Mrs. Ellen Bager, an elderly woman, who was attacked on her way home from the city. She was carried to the hospital, and it is feared that she will not survive.

Woman's Brave Fight. There was evidence that the woman had made a courageous fight. From what the police were able to learn from her she was surprised by a smooth-faced stranger, who told her that he was a doctor. He was carrying a knife and a small bag. She fought bravely, and the man fled.

Attempt Lynching. Several hundred men went to the police station to demand the release of the man who had been arrested. They threatened to lynch him if he was not released. The police were unable to control the crowd, and the man was released.

Housekeeper 19 Years, She Asks $22,747. Hella B. Leymour Sues E. F. Leet of Melrose for Services and Breach of Promise.

TO SUITORS PLEASE OBTAIN A HOUSEKEEPER AT $750 A YEAR, $12,747.

With this as the principal item, Hella B. Leymour, of Melrose, Mass., and her brother of Melrose, Mass., have filed a bill for breach of promise against Eugene F.

Leet of Melrose, who, according to her declaration filed today, promised, upon October 1, 1888, to marry her.

She says that many times since that date Leet had repudiated his promise, but that he never failed to pay her.

Leet brought her suit for him for nineteen years ago, when he was at the time of the $750 a year, $12,747. She also asks for $10,000 damages because of Leet's alleged failure to marry her.

This is John D. Rockefeller fighting pose. There is a flash in his eyes as he defiantly faces great penalty imposed on Oil Trust. He keeps cool, plays golf and attends Communion service.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER DEFIES GOVERNMENT

SNEERS AT $29,000,000 FINE IMPOSED ON STANDARD OIL BY JUDGE LANDIS.

By William Hoster. CLEVELAND, Aug. 5.—Judge Landis will be dead a long while before this fine is paid; in fact, many things will happen before that.

This is the only direct comment, public or private, that John D. Rockefeller is known to have made on the $29,000,000 fine since it was imposed last Saturday.

DEMANDS $500 NOTE HE GAVE IN LABOR FIGHT

Business Agent Jacob Goldstein of Leola, 12, 13 and 33, International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union of America, was temporarily released by Judge Sanderson in the Superior Court today from assignment or transferring a $500 note of the Columbia Skirt Company.

Suit was brought by Mark Schindler of the Columbia Skirt Company against Goldstein, in which Schindler says the note was obtained by coercion and duress and under threat of calling out employees of the Columbia Skirt Company on March 25 last.

About that time, Schindler alleges, the Skindler and his attorneys were arrested when they were in the act of calling out employees of the Columbia Skirt Company.

ANTI-CLERICAL TORCH IN ITALIAN RAIDS

ROME, Aug. 5.—Serious outbreaks at several points have marked the agitation throughout Italy against the clerics. As the movement is constantly growing, areas on churches and monasteries and rioting are some of the developments of the anti-clerical movement.

removed, at Seventh street and Thirty-fourth street. An East Indian, a subject, was the object of this crowd's rage; they so strongly they suspected stolen articles in his police attire to little girls. They then turned to the crowd, but at a glance at the faces of the crowd, they were frightened. First, then, the policeman got into the mob, who were ready to kill him.

Innocent Man Dying.

Yesterday another woman saw a man try to attack her little sister near the foot of East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street. The woman raised the cry "lynch him," and the crowd led, a perfectly innocent man, broke his skull and so injured him internally that he will probably die.

RESCUE BY RESERVES.

When near the lamp post, the police reserves arrived with a patrol wagon, and on the run. Led by Sergeant McElroy and vigorously wielding their clubs charged the mob, which broke and ran. Connelly, Hartman and Sarge found out the police arrested them and rescued Keener, who was not injured in a hundred places, was in collapse. The police threw a horse blanket around him and checked him in the patrol wagon with their three prime eyes, all of whom were badly injured. The crowd, which gathered around the patrol wagon, was so large that it was difficult to get the horse out. The crowd, which gathered around the patrol wagon, was so large that it was difficult to get the horse out.

Attacks Children.

There, by the door of their home in the evening daylight, Keener seized both little girls. Rans, the older, struggled from his grasp and, screaming, ran into her home. Keener grabbed up Anne, and with one arm around her, he ran into the street. He was followed by a crowd of men, some of whom were shouting "lynch him." Keener was running, and the crowd was following him. He was running, and the crowd was following him.

TORN BY WOMEN.

In the midst of a constantly growing crowd Keener fought for his life and knew he was fighting for it. As many men as could reach him, they were attacking him. He was running, and the crowd was following him. He was running, and the crowd was following him.

BATTLE FOR LIFE.

"We want him," yelled the men. Some of them were shouting "lynch him." Keener was running, and the crowd was following him. He was running, and the crowd was following him.

MOB GREW FIERCE.

The mob grew ever fiercer. The police were trying to keep the crowd from attacking the man. The police were trying to keep the crowd from attacking the man.

HUB SOCIETY PEOPLE VERY ENTHUSIASTIC

—MARGARET SINCLAIR

Woman Arrested as Swindler in Toronto Tells How She Fooled Rich.

PLAYED EARL'S RELATIVE

"The Fox Strangways," under arrest in Toronto on a charge of passing forged checks and obtaining money by false pretenses, declares that she has found it very easy to fool society people in Boston and other cities, according to the papers to the BOSTON AMERICAN.

Attracted by the buried treasure of the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN, Revere Beach had a phenomenal large crowd yesterday for a day of showers. The force of the business men which were visited with friends in the morning were swayed in smiles last evening. At 5 o'clock the boulevard from the Atlantic Hotel to the Seaside Temple was a surging mass of humanity.

It was agreed by all the business men that the magnet which drew the immense crowd to the beach was the buried treasure of the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN and the drawing attraction of the famous Red Dollar Sign Girl. During the forenoon there was hardly a visitor at Revere Beach. The rain fell steadily and the heavy clouds gave little promise of sunshine. It looked bleak for business. About noon the clouds began to clear away, the rain let up and occasionally there was a puff from the sun. From that time on until early in the evening every turn and every street car that reached the beach was jammed with people. They began to swarm along the beach and across the sand tracks while the wind-driven currents had an eye out for the Red Dollar Sign.

Two Canadian Youth.

By the middle of the afternoon Wonderland had an unusually large crowd. All of the attractions were generally patronized. Red dollar signs were picked up here and there and toward the latter half of the afternoon the attention of the visitors turned toward the capture of the young man with a flower in his buttonhole. This room was named about the park for more than an hour without any speaking in him. The crowd was so large that it was difficult to get the horse out.

A Spy Messenger Boy.

The messenger boy who had been taken to gold for a person who discovered him in the crowd had two hours of fun before he was released. He was running, and the crowd was following him. He was running, and the crowd was following him.

Gets Treasure Balloon.

While these exciting scenes were in progress in Wonderland, the balloon was in the air. It was running, and the crowd was following him. It was running, and the crowd was following him.
